

Information accumulated is trivia.
Information applied is knowledge.

We believe in knowledge which is truly accessible, relevant, and retainable. Our system of integrating online enrichment learning, mentoring, and support offers learners ongoing education which finally meets their specific needs and learning style.

Education should be about recruitment, retention, and revitalization.

Employers don't calculate the cost of coffee breaks, yet everyone acknowledges their value. So why is the cost of training not valued the same way?

TeachMeNow envisions companies who will create a learning culture within their organization, who understand that education equals productivity and opportunities for advancement—for both the company and its staff. TeachMeNow envisions a future where employers will calculate learning by the minute, not by the dollar.

Teach. Me. Now.
It's as simple as it sounds.

Micro-Learning that's tailored to the individual. Micro-Searching that finds only what is needed. Micro-Billing that keeps costs down. Something has to be complicated, doesn't it? No. Not even the web page. Our Click 'n Easy™ web design is as simple and effective as our product. We'll even let you try us out for free. How easy is that?

TeachMeNow Elite Program: from Micro-Learning™ to the Macrocosm.

Why remain the apprentice when you can be the magician?

TeachMeNow proudly introduces the TeachMeNow Elite Program™, courseware designed to take you beyond knowledge into the realm of understanding. With our Elite Group as your mentors, you'll push beyond the boundaries of even the most advanced courses available elsewhere to become master of your domain. Whether your goal is to rule information technology, captain the company ship, or satiate a personal passion, the Elite Program is designed for those with greater ambitions.

Progress from simple proficiency to complex integration, from a snapshot to the bigger picture. Go beyond the how...to the why.

TeachMeNow is comprised of learning professionals who have been carefully selected from the Information Technology (IT), Internet, and Educational sectors. TeachMeNow utilizes these learning professionals, an extensive library of technical, soft skills, and special interests courseware, as well as testing, standard analysis and development templates to create the largest and most successful web-based training corporation in the world.

In order for education to be successful on the Internet, it has to be designed specifically for the Internet.

Instructional Systems Design. Sound rigid? It used to be.

Traditionally, education meant learning specific content within a specific forum within a restricted time frame. Times have changed.

At TeachMeNow™, we've developed a whole new ISD that frees learners to chart their own courses, meet their own needs, and learn at their own pace. We call it Bit Learning™ and it's going to change the way we all look at business-related education. While other online companies are content simply to mask tradition in a new medium, TeachMeNow embraces the future.

Education isn't a new industry. How it's delivered should be.

TeachMeNow recognizes that people don't have time and money to waste learning what they already know. The rate of redundancy among courses that fall within a similar category can be as high as 30%. At TeachMeNow learners focus on a specific goal. Whether exploring a whole new field or simply upgrading their skills, members get the knowledge they need in the time they have. We offer:

-  Micro-Learning™: Our course material is broken down into micro-lessons, as small as 5-minute modules. So one can quickly zero in on a specific skill or learning set.
-  Micro-Searching™: Query by word, program, or even just a concept—our intuitive search engine will find what's needed and weed out the rest.
-  Micro-Billing™: We bill by the module, not by the course. Members pay only for what is needed.

Not everyone learns the same way. Some are visual learners, some are auditory, while others are interactive.

Learning is successful only when information is delivered in the right medium and at a pace the learner demands. TeachMeNow has designed our content to be delivered in all three modes, offering members the option of "Show Me", "Tell Me", "Let Me", or a combination of the three. And since our courses are broken down into small modules, members can skip over or replay any module they desire. So whether a person learns quickly, slowly, or somewhere in between, they'll never be pressured by time or held back by others.

The company seminar looms ahead. We'll get you there, then keep you current.

TeachMeNow also provides appropriate preparation materials online so everyone can feel confident when they walk into the corporate classroom.

Then, when the seminar is over, we'll help learners retain what's been studied, apply it in their work environment, and keep them up-to-date on the latest developments.

Whether working with established facility-based training companies to augment existing courseware, develop new approaches, or provide enrichment, TeachMeNow will greatly enhance the traditional learning experience.

Education doesn't end at graduation. Celebrate life-long learning.

The TeachMeNow website is much more than the Portal concept that others are using; we are a Landing Pad that hosts, delivers and takes responsibility for the full learning experiences of our members.

In addition to course content we offer access to live, scheduled events that members can participate in, a variety of free services (white papers, reports, statistics, analysis, and comments) on a range of topics and industries, and reviews of published text material.

TeachMeNow is not a software developer. Our loyalty is to our members.

TeachMeNow has over 600 technical and soft skills courses available now and will expand with thousands more as they become available. We also offer special interest courses pertaining to your personal and business interests. Best of all, we "bundle" related courses together, so you won't miss out on complementary skills or relevant issues.

TeachMeNow maintains a staff of highly trained Instructional Systems Designers who re-purpose existing courseware for web deployment. We offer a diverse range of courses including manufacturers' certification materials, updated on a regular basis. You'll find what you're looking for at TeachMeNow.

¿Habla español? Parlez-vous français? ¡Por supuesto! Oui!

A large portion of our courseware catalogue is available in a variety of languages including English, French, German, Dutch, Spanish, Korean, Chinese, and Japanese.

And our multilingual help desk support function is available on a 24/7 basis via telephone, interactive chat, threaded discussion, or email.

Analyze. Identify. Customize.

In addition to public domain material accessible on a pay-per-use basis, TeachMeNow offers a range of services that can assist customers to analyze and identify their specific training requirements through to the hosting of their custom developed training material. We can integrate TeachMeNow technology into an existing system, or provide controlled access to and within our site.
